STONE

Why do we only see beautiful stone covered decks, patios, balconies and stairways on the high end homes and almost exclusively in warm climates? The answer has always been: our severe climate and cost. Until now...

IntegraStone's innovation proudly offers homeowners a custom designed outdoor living space that is both permanent and elegant.

CLIMATE CHALLENGES

Beautiful natural stone like Italian Travertine cannot stand up to our harsh climate because the frequent "freeze-thaw" cycles destroy natural stone. And it goes without saying that the sheer expense of the material and complexity of installation has made it difficult for most homeowners to afford.

THE INNOVATION

What once was thought of as luxury and exclusive to interior options, granite counter tops and hardwood floor upgrades have become affordable and even standard. The outdoor living space market has not enjoyed the same breakthrough. Until now...

IntegraStone is changing the way we approach building outdoor decks, stairs, patios and balconies. We have created an advanced structurally engineered steel and stone building system. The IntegraStone system is waterproof, weatherproof and even fireproof! Our custom system provides you with a durable, high quality, and virtually maintenance-free outdoor living space solution - that lasts a lifetime. IntegraStone is not only unquestionably resilient, it is also elegant.

HANDCRAFTED DESIGN

Each IntegraStone large-format tile is individually hand-crafted by skilled artisans so that every tile has the appearance of real Italian Travertine stone. Instead of using materials that break down over time, we incorporate Ultra High Performance Concrete to create a tile that can withstand the ravages of the northern climate.

We all care about the environment and the impact of personal choices when it comes to building materials. Our patent-pending steel and stone system utilizes a process that is environmentally responsible and resource efficient. It lasts longer, uses fewer natural resources and has a lower cost-of-ownership over the lifecycle of the product.

THE STEEL & STONE SYSTEM

At some point everyone has experienced a deck, patio or set of stairs that has been destroyed by the elements and is in need of replacement.

We believe in doing things once by doing them right the first time. Instead of using materials that break down over time, we have incorporated galvanized steel into our building system. Designed to last a lifetime, the galvanized steel structural system ensures the sub-structural system will not shift, warp or rot. Additionally, our system allows each individual tile to move and flex with the structure. Year after year our structure will remain the same. IntegraStone gives homeowners peace of mind that lasts.

EXISTING STRUCTURES

Typically our steel & stone system is installed on new builds or complete renovations. If however, your existing structure is sound, we've got you covered. IntegraStone tiles are engineered to be installed over a variety of surfaces. Surfaces like wood, concrete, EPS (Styrofoam) and even vinyl decking.

The IntegraStone system adds significant value to any property. Unlike traditional building methods that deteriorate and depreciate over time, our lifetime products and warranty offer homeowners assurance from the beginning.

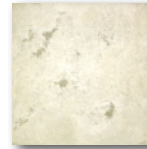

THE LUXURY SETTING

The innovative IntegraStone Solution creates the base that your entire luxury outdoor living space is built upon. With IntegraStone you can have it all - great looks, lifetime performance, low maintenance, ease of installation and affordability!

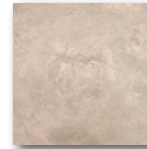

"To us, it is more than just building a lifetime deck, its about creating a luxury outdoor living experience that is affordable and attainable."

SO WHERE DO WE START?

Many homeowners are discovering the joys of dining, relaxing and entertaining in spaces designed and built especially for these purposes. What better way to spend an evening after a long day at work than by enjoying your backyard and relaxing in your slice of paradise?

Creating the outdoor living space of your dreams starts with detailing your wish list. Are you looking for something clean and simple with lots of open space or do you want multiple levels? It may be a grand staircase or perhaps you really want an outdoor kitchen, accent lighting, a pergola or even a three or four season room with in-floor heat. Whatever your dream is our design team will work with our trained dealers and installers to make it happen. Our goal is to create a space - an extension of your home - that allows the beauty of your interior living to flow seamlessly into the outdoors. IntegraStone opens a new world of possibilities for luxury outdoor living.
